

UK ASIAN STUDIES RESEARCH FORUM II

DECEMBER 13, 2019

1:30-5:30PM | FORUM
ES GOODBARN | WELDON SUITE

RECEPTION TO FOLLOW

This one-day interdisciplinary symposium will bring together scholars from across campus whose research focuses on Asia. The symposium will be a space of dialogue and learning among scholars. The event will include lectures lead by College of Arts & Sciences faculty and graduate students, as well as a reception. With support from the Associate Dean of Inclusion and Internationalization in the College of Arts & Sciences, the forum endeavors to foster communication among scholars on campus who are researching Asia in hopes to build a stronger community of scholars.

- Computer-assisted learning of Japanese | Koji Tanno
- Chinese is not that difficult to learn: Implications from four decades' research | Sihui (Echo) Ke
- Chinese American college students' ethnic identity negotiation in college: How does China play a role in it? | Yan Wang
- Sleepless in Seoul: Understanding sleepless youth and their practices at 24-hour-cafes through neoliberal governmentality | Jonghee Lee Caldararo
- From Yellow Peril to Yellow Friend: America's Changing Perception of Chinese and Chinese Americans during the Second World War | Sixu Liu
- The Reinvention of the Past: Historic Preservation, Symbolic Landscape, and Gentrification in Seoul | Myung In Ji
- Training Millions of Successors | Shelly Zhou
- The Plastic Pileup in Thailand: Illuminating Voices and Perspectives on Causes and Grassroots Solutions | Olivia Meyer
- Cultivating Health in Landscapes of Uncertainty: Mystery Kidney Disease, Environmental Risk, and Agrarian Transformation in Sri Lanka's Dry Zone | Nari Senanayake
- Animals after disaster | Doug Slaymaker

For more information and the full schedule, visit: <https://mcl.as.uky.edu/uk-asia-research-forum>